FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Graphic Novel Line Up at ALA

BURBANK, CA. Madeleine Holly-Rosing, writer/creator of the graphic novel series Boston Metaphysical Society announced that her steampunk supernatural graphic novel, prose, and audio drama series will be at the American Library Association (ALA) Conference from June 28 until July 1. "This is my first time at ALA, and I'm thrilled to get our series in front of librarians," Ms. Holly-Rosing commented. "My fondest childhood memories were of being at my local library. So, this is a treat."

Boston Metaphysical Society began as a six issue mini-series which then continued with four standalone sequels and the current series, Mystery at Pikes Peak. The universe also includes the award winning novel, Boston Metaphysical Society: A Storm of Secrets (Silver Medal, Feathered Quill Awards 2019), the anthology, Boston Metaphysical Society: Prelude, and the audio drama, The Ghost Ship. The original series received an Honorable Mention at the 2013 Geekie Awards and was nominated for Best Comic/Graphic Novel in 2014. It was also consistently nominated for best webcomic by the Steampunk Chronicles Readers' Choice Awards in 2013, 2014 and 2015. Originally self-published, Source Point Press re-published the original six issue mini-series in 2019 and the subsequent four sequels in 2020/21.

Ms. Holly-Rosing brings her background of TV and feature film writing to the world of comics along with a love of history and science fiction. The comic began online eleven years ago and went to print with a special twenty-four page edition of chapter one a year later. A veteran of crowdfunding, Ms. Holly-Rosing has successfully funded her entire graphic novel series on Kickstarter along with her first ever audio drama, The Ghost Ship, as well as her new series, Mystery at Pikes Peak.

The Queen of Mercia/Boston Metaphysical Society table will be located at Small Press 450.
